

Adam Greiner

Associate

agreiner@hicksjohnson.com

+1 713 255 4128

+1 713 357 5160

Practice Areas

Energy

Mass Tort & Product Liability

Trials

Education

University of Texas School of Law, J.D., 2022; Volunteer, Mithoff Pro Bono
Program's Expunction Clinic; Texas Environmental Law Journal

College of William and Mary, B.A., History, 2019, cum laude

Admissions

Texas

U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Texas

OVERVIEW

Adam focuses on complex civil litigation at the trial level. His experience lies primarily in mass tort litigation, product liability claims, and commercial disputes in the energy sector.

Previously, Adam served as a summer associate at Hicks Johnson. In this role, he compiled in-depth research on topics related to product liability, questions of standing and joinder, and antitrust law. He also supported expert witnesses in conducting field research involving property damage from herbicide application.